

NEW ORLEANS DENTAL CENTER

CONSENT FOR TREATMENT AND PATIENT RESPONSIBILITY

The doctors and staff feel confident in the thorough explanations we give regarding the treatment that we recommend, and we are always happy to explain anything. Because everyone's body is different, with different immune system health and unique reactions, there are risks associated with any dental treatment. These include the administration of any local or general anesthetic agent, medications to produce conscious sedation, and/or pre-medication prior to dental treatment. Some of the risks/complications are, but are not limited to, the following:

- Infection and/or swelling
- Allergic or other reactions to drugs or medicaments (such as nausea, vomiting)
- Bleeding
- Bacterial endocarditis
- Dry socket, with need for additional treatment
- Trismus (jaw pain or difficulty opening mouth)
- Paresthesia (numbness of face and/or mouth and/or tongue)—usually transient but could be permanent
- Loss of teeth and/or bone
- Opening between mouth and sinus or mouth and nose
- Failure of treatment to accomplish its main purpose
- Loosening or additional spacing of teeth
- Changes in occlusion (biting/chewing)
- Pain referred to ear/neck/head
- Delay or failure of healing of the surgery site
- Injuries to adjacent teeth, restorations and/or hard/soft tissue
- Incomplete removal of tooth/root
- Swallowing or aspiration of objects
- Tooth or fragment(s) in maxillary sinus
- Breakage of root(s) and/or retained root Fragment(s)

Additional oral surgery, hospitalization, and/or further treatment may be required in the event of any complication(s). Be assured that we are careful to minimize the potential for any risks associated with dental treatment.
